Our business goal is to contribute to the digitalization and economic development of Japan as a "catalyst" for the evolution of the DX society by providing a platform that enables the issuance and circulation of privately issued digital currency on the Internet. We intend to focus our resources on building a two-tiered digital currency platform that will serve as a future social infrastructure. We will continue to strengthen partnerships with various companies and promote all-Japan efforts to realize the "DCJPY (tentative name)," a digital currency issued by the private sector.
